

December 11, 2009

Concert, Chen-Chieh Chang

The Arts Center of National Dong Hwa University (NDHU) has invited cellist, Chen-Chieh Chang, to perform on campus on December 11, 2009.

Blending Impressionist music with traditional Chinese drama, Cellist Chen-Chieh Chang will play Cello Sonata by France's Claude Debussy on stage with Chinese Opera Master, Lu-How Ju, acting as Monkey King. Through humorous, simple and interesting explanations, classical music will be brought to audience of all ages. From Cello Suites by German's Johann Sebastian Bach, Requiebros by Spain's Gaspar Cassado to Cello Sonata by Norway's Edvard Grieg, this cello recital will exhibit the beauty and fullness of music across cultures.

Details of the event are listed as follows:

Concert Cello vs Monkey King
Date December 11, 2009 (Friday)
Time 19:00
Venue Auditorium, Common
Education Building, Shoufeng Campus

A well-known cellist in Taiwan, Chen-Chieh Chang was graduated from the University of Music and Performing Arts Vienna, Austria. He is currently serving as a faculty member of National Taiwan Ocean University. Besides teaching, he is an active performer in concerts both in Taiwan and overseas.

Chinese Opera Master, Lu-How Ju, was trained in Kunqu Opera Theatre specializing in wu sheng (male martial role) and lao sheng (aged male role). Over the years, he received many awards in both traditional and modern Chinese operas.

Organized by the Arts Center of NDHU, the exhibition is one of the events of the 2009 Autumn Art Feast. Through different art forms and activities, students can experience and appreciate the diversity and richness in aesthetics.

For further information, please contact NDHU Arts Center at (03) 863-2606.

